“One of the pillars of strength on which any dance community is built is the quality of its training... (Goh Ballet Academy) has attracted a host of distinguished guest artists, both to teach and to stage ballets, and the stars from visiting touring companies regularly drop in for class with the celebrated teachers... The list of its students' international competition successes (already more extensive than that of any other professional school in Canada) continues to lengthen, as does the roster of Goh graduates who have built careers with Canada's professional companies and throughout the United States, Asia and Europe.”
